"Road Safety Begins with Each of Us: A Collective Step Towards Safer Roads"

The Federal Road Safety Corps has made significant efforts to establish and maintain proper road safety administration in Nigeria. However, despite their ongoing innovations and the collaborative efforts of related agencies, Road Traffic Crashes (RTCs) remain a leading cause of fatalities and injuries, resulting in avoidable human and economic losses. Surprisingly, even during the peak of the Covid-19 pandemic, more lives were lost due to traffic crashes than the previous year. While the Corps will continue its tireless endeavors to address this alarming trend, it acknowledges that achieving road safety requires the active participation of every individual.

Road safety is a shared responsibility, as every person who uses the roads plays a crucial role. It is imperative for all of us to embrace and actively participate in the efforts and awareness programs initiated by the Corps to protect lives and property.

The Corps employs aggressive public enlightenment campaigns and integrates road safety into the national educational system. These campaigns are conducted in various languages, targeting different sectors of the economy and diverse religious settings through events such as motor park rallies, church and mosque advocacies, town hall meetings, visits to organizations, schools, market squares, and more. Electronic media channels, including television adverts, programs, radio jingles, live appearances, and social media interactions, are utilized to effectively disseminate road safety awareness.

Reflect on your own road use behavior. If you are a fleet operator, do you ensure your drivers are properly trained and your vehicles are roadworthy before allowing mass transit? As a driver, do you take necessary measures to ensure your vehicle is roadworthy before hitting the road? Do you drive conscientiously, adhering to all traffic rules? And as a pedestrian, do you prioritize safety by walking against traffic, using pedestrian bridges and zebra crossings when applicable, and avoiding dangerous situations on the road? Each individual's commitment to responsible road use is pivotal. By collectively playing our part, we can achieve sanity on our roads and significantly reduce the human and material losses on our highways.

The Corps effectively promotes road safety through a two-pronged approach. It sensitizes the public about appropriate road use behaviour, with a strong focus on the safety of all individuals on the road. Simultaneously, through its operational arm, it rigorously enforces penalties for those who violate road regulations. This serves as a deterrent, discouraging repeated offenses and ultimately preventing Crashes. By adopting this comprehensive strategy, the Corps aims to foster a safer road environment and minimize the occurrence of road crashes.

In conclusion, let us remember that road safety begins with each of us. Through embracing this collective responsibility and making conscious efforts to adhere to road safety practices, we can contribute to a safer road environment for ourselves and others. Together, we can work towards reducing road traffic crashes and creating a safer motoring environment.
